Ditches And Dollars Plague South Fulton's City Council

The City of South Fulton finds itself in a dilemma today. Plagued by a shortage of funds in some departments and yet enthusiastic about continuing its ever increasing residential section the Mayor and City Council discussed at length Monday night a solution to the problem.

Dr. H. W. Connaughton, local veterinarian, city councilman and sub-division developer recently purchased 38 lots within the city limits to be developed as a residential section. Finding itself short of funds in all departments but the gas department the city is unable to furnish sewage, gravel streets, storm sewers and water mains to the area, at this time.

The Mayor and Council discussed the possibility of:

1. Having Dr. Connaughton take the responsibility of making the necessary installations to the area with the City of South Fulton committing itself to pay him back at the rate of $100 a house for each of five years, as the houses are built. Entering into such a contract with Dr. Connaughton, it was pointed out, would necessitate Dr. Connaughton's resignation from the council which he offered to do, since it would present the situation of a councilman entering into a contract with the municipality he serves.
2. Securing a loan from either an individual or a banking institution obligating the city for the principal amount (about $19,000) with Dr. Connaughton paying the interest on the money. The legality of this action was questioned however and will be ruled upon by City Attorney Charles Fields, who was absent from the meeting.

It was obvious at the meeting that the development of Circle Drive is opposed to by some members of the council. The financial burden of furnishing utility lines and other improvements to the several fast growing sub-divisions in South Fulton has made some councilmen cautious of making other financial commitments which cannot be paid in the foreseeable future, it was revealed.

And if the council chooses to take either course of action cited above they have under advisement these developments, it was pointed out:

- a. If the City Council borrows from a private or banking institution it must commit itself to pay interest, and regular payments on the principal, regardless of whether there are houses in the sub-

Jo's
Note Book

Recently I read the book, "A Rockefeller Family Portrait" and I was particularly amused at a story told about the venerable old gentleman John D. Rockefeller. The story goes that when Rockefeller Center was being built in New York, right in the heart of town, many, many interesting people would spend hours on end watching the huge cranes and heavy machinery at work to build the giant structure. While watching such construction was a real hazard, Rockefeller did not want to deprive the people of enjoying the wonders of modern day construction, so he formed the SIDEWALK SUPERINTENDENTS CLUB, making people eligible to stand around and watch the monstrous structure being built.

I have felt much like a sidewalk superintendent these past few weeks watching Ray Graham and his workers tear down portions of the historic Cumberland Presbyterian Church, which formerly housed the local congregation prior to 1948. Ray is putting a new roof on the building, for as you know, it is being used as a warehouse for the Graham Furniture Company. Wednesday morning, as a sidewalk superintendent I stopped by and talked a little while with Ray Graham and we both marvelled at the construction of the building and the quality of the materials used and the laborious manner by which they were made.

Ray believes that the roof he is now putting on the building is perhaps the third one to cover the graceful old church and it is surprising to see that the wooden shingles now being removed are almost as sturdy today as they were when they were first put on the roof, goodness knows how many years ago. Heavy lumber being removed in portions of the building can be salvaged and used just as good as new and Ray thinks that there is enough lumber in and around the roof to almost build another house.

In my role of sidewalk superintendent I looked at the beautiful, though sadly damaged stained-glass windows, and could visualize the many times that the sun showed through the vari-colored panes upon a devoted congregation, many of whom have gone to their final resting place. I detected in Ray a deep warmth and sentiment about the church as he pointed out to me the tremendous labor and care that must have gone into the hand-carved shingles on the front of the building as well as the window facings that were placed around the colorful windows.

Ray has been thinking about maybe removing portions of the church front and yet at the same time I could see that he would much rather leave it as it is for sentimental reasons. If he decides to remove the front for functional reasons it will surely be a decision of his mind and not his heart.

Every time I see an old landmark in and around Fulton I feel sorry for myself because I am not able to share completely, the deep feeling of love and sentiment that pioneer citizens have about such landmarks. I keep saying to myself, as in the case of the old

Restriction Put On Entire Fulton-Union City Highway

UNION CITY, Tenn.—The state commissioner of safety has ruled the entire nine-mile section of Highway 51 and 45W from Union City to Fulton, Ky., a 45-mile per hour speed zone.

The action by Commissioner Greg O'Rear came to light here Tuesday when the new speed signs were erected in the highway.

The commissioner's original order, signed on July 24, closely followed a series of protests by Union City officials and leaders of local organizations about the existence of "a virtual speed-trap" between Union City and Fulton on a section of the highway zoned at 45. Other sections were governed by the normal speed limits of 65 in the daytime, 55 at night. Many felt the area was inadequately marked for motorists.

"We had asked the state safety department to look over the highway in light of several improvements made recently," Bill Kallenberg, president of the Union City Chamber of Commerce, said Tuesday. The road recently was widened and then even more recently a number of narrow bridges were widened.

"We had hopes that the 45 zone could be removed," Mr. Kallenberg said. "However, it is the view of the safety department that conditions warrant the 45 restrictions along the highway. We certainly will go along with their findings and sanction the move. Making the entire nine-mile stretch a 45-miles-per-hour zone certainly will do away with the objectionable features which were found on the highway."

Guest Diarist Takes Time Out And Pinch-Hitter Does Her Best

We hoped you enjoyed reading the Diary of Doings last week, because we did. Our guest columnist (she won't let us use her name) is ailing a little this week, but promises to be back at the old typewriter next week. If we may tell you a little about that columnist it is to tell you that we are as proud as punch of her ability as a writer and as a fine young lady. And what's more as the years move along, as they inexorably do, some day we're going to bust with pride when we say that she was once a writer for the Fulton County News. Ella Doyle, (Oops there we said it) has been putting sentences to gether since here we've been, and its for sure that she'll be putting 'em together after we're gone for the whole world to enjoy instead of just the subscribers of the News. (If you hear of us taking a quick trip out of town its because Ella got after us for saying these things.)

In answering a note to H. L. Stone of Clinton we might make it public so that all of you may know that we have discontinued running the schedule of TV programs until September. A curtailed summer staff and smaller papers make it necessary for us to utilize every available inch of space for advertisers and other local news stories. While we know you have come to depend on it we hope you will bear with us.

Virginia Stokes, (mother of Bill, brother of Paul Boyd and daughter of H. E. Boyd) came in to see us the other day on an interesting public relations mission and we know that when she gets home she'll wonder if she ever got the job done. Virginia, says she never knows when to stop talking and she ran into a character who never does, so the net result is that our diarist and Virginia had a fine time. In the course of the conversation we learned that Virginia taught interior design in New York and had to give up the job because of a broken hip whereupon she moved to Fulton to be with her family. She is going to "hang out a shingle" in the Fall to do interior decorating. She had some good practice recently when she shared with Dorothy Jones the joy of decorating Dorothy's new home in Paducah.

Had a nice note from Peggy Hanneppin, a former Fultonian who now lives in Jackson, Tenn. The note was a thoughtful gesture but the news was bad. J. E. has been quite ill and is confined to his home and is recuperating (thank heavens) but his illness prevented them from taking a fine trip to New York and also from coming to Fulton for the centennial. Failure to come to Fulton we know must have been a real disappointment for both Peggy and J. E. but we want them to know that just as soon as possible we hope they will both come here for a nice long visit with all their old friends who miss them very much.

McDade Corners will be a very active place these next few days since the news came that Tom and Jean Bigger and the two Bigger boys, Dan, Jo and Tommy will arrive in these parts for a visit. McDade Corners isn't a big community as communities go, but there's so much going

WFUL Ceases Report Of Fulton Police News; Mayor Tripp Prefers No Daily Radio Contact

Fellow In His Cups Fills Coffers Of Police Department

The cup runneth over for Willie the Wobblor, and it filled the coffers of the Fulton police department last month as the major portion of the $1246.50 in fines collected were for public drunkenness, drinking in a public place, drunk while driving, drinking on the railroad (that's new.)

Of the 46 fines imposed from June 29 through July 30, 25 of them were for drunkenness in some form.

Here're the others in the lineup:

One each for assault and battery, off truck route, no operator's license, no city license tag, running stop sign, throwing trash on highway, parking in prohibited area, reckless driving. Other fines were: speeding, 6; disorderly conduct, 2; breach of peace, 2.

Father Tarrant On Month's Vacation

Father Edward L. Tarrant, assistant pastor of the St. Edwards Catholic Church left Wednesday for his annual month's vacation. From Aug. 15 to Aug. 24 he will serve as Catholic Chaplain aboard the Swedish American luxury liner Grispsholm.

The nine-day cruise will include visits to Sauguey, Gaspe and Bermuda.

ACCEPTS POSITION

Mrs. Evelyn Ammons of Fulton has accepted employment at the Gould Beauty Salon in Memphis. She will spend this weekend in Fulton with her mother, Mrs. Ross Smith.

Mayor Nelson Tripp takes a dim view of Radio Station WFUL's early morning LIVE-WIRE program, it was revealed at the Fulton City Council meeting on Monday night. Mayor Tripp, defending the local police department in their apparent news ban to the station said that he would prefer that WFUL not make the daily news call to the police department, which it has previously done, but which has been discontinued by the station manager, for lack of cooperation from the department.

Mayor Tripp's views were made known in answer to a question by Councilman J. O. Lewis as to whether the police department had been instructed in the manner that police news should be handled not only to the radio station, but also to newspapers.

(The decision by WFUL to discontinue the morning news call to the Fulton, Ky. police department resulted after area listeners, complained to the station manager that police news of record was being withheld and after a janitor, answering the phone, told the station "they told me to tell you they ain't no news." (On the night before Coca-Cola Bottling Company reported a break-in.)

(Local police indicated that the janitorial news report was necessary because the news call was made too late. However, thousands of radio listeners will attest to the fact that the janitor answered the call on the third telephone try. The first call was made at 7:07 a. m. with no answer; the second call at 7:12 a. m. received a busy signal and the last call at 7:19 a. m. was answered by the janitor.)

Miss Ouida Jewell, news editor of the Fulton County News, and correspondent for the Associated Press, United Press, the Commercial Appeal, the Louisville Courier-Journal and the Paducah Sun-

Democrat told the council members that withholding legitimate police news has been prevalent among certain police officers for many years. Miss Jewell, who is also news editor for Radio Station WFUL told the council that even police news of public record has been withheld on many occasions.

Mayor Tripp, elaborating on his police news views, said that if local news people were desirous of getting the news they should attend court each morning. Miss Jewell, citing personal experience said that the time of court, if held at all, varies.

It was revealed at the meeting that the Fulton, Ky. police department is of the opinion that to report certain police news is to obstruct the apprehension of a suspect in the case. (In an editorial last week the News stated publicly that they had no intention of revealing any police work that might tend to obstruct bringing a criminal to justice. The editorial stated that only police news of public record was a matter for publication and both the radio station and the newspaper felt that such news should be made known to the public.)

Mr. Lewis, acting in his official capacity as city councilman, and not as commercial manager of Radio Station WFUL, asked again for a clarification of the Mayor's news policy and was told that the police are instructed to report news to the station. However, Mrs. Paul Westpheling, manager of WFUL said today that the no further calls would be made to the Fulton Ky. police department.

Mrs. Westpheling made this statement to the News today: "For the past two years news calls have been made to the police in Clinton, South Fulton, Hickman and other points in the area. At no time have any of the police officers in those cities complained that the call was an obstruction of justice. Curtis Vaughn, sheriff of Hickman County, and more recently Elmer Mansfield of the South Fulton police department daily report police news accurately, efficiently and regularly. The calls are made at approximately the same time each day.

"WFUL has received splendid cooperation from these departments and has even assisted in the apprehension of law violators when called upon.

"If reporting news of public record from the police department of Fulton, Ky. was an obstacle in discharging the duties of the police department last week, it is certainly the same hazard this week.

"And if Mayor Tripp would prefer that the call not be made each morning, it is not the intention of WFUL to aggravate or to inconvenience the Mayor of the City of Fulton, Ky."

In other action the city council

Tripp Named To Low Cost Power Group

Mayor Nelson Tripp of Fulton and E. J. Paxton Jr. of Paducah were two of the sixteen directors selected by a nominating committee Thursday night at the two-day meeting of Kentucky Citizens for Low Cost Power at Cumberland Falls, Ky.

Attending the meeting was Clyde Williams, Jr., chairman, of the Fulton Electric Plant Board.

Bert T. Combs Friday pledged his cooperation to the group. The Democratic candidate for governor told the group he is "completely sympathetic with the objectives" of the organization.

As the group took its final form it elected Frankfort Mayor John Gerard as president.

City-Owned Power Systems Provide Tax Relief And Civic Benefits For Citizens, Report Shows

(Ed's Note: The following news article, reported by Bill Powell of the Paducah Sun-Democrat regarding municipal ownership of its electric power system tells vividly the benefits to be derived from such ownerships. We think it speaks for itself and that you might be interested in some startling facts from cities that own their electric power systems.)

Frankfort, Mayor John Gerard told a "mouth-watering" story of municipal electric system operation at a two-day meeting of Kentucky Citizens for Low Cost Power at Cumberland Falls State Park.

The mayor outlined the story of Frankfort's acquisition of its power facilities and its operation with Kentucky Utilities Company power. Then he said, "I'm going to tell you fellows a story that will make your mouths water."

He said that Frankfort acquired its power facilities in April, 1943, for $1,240,000. The city issued revenue bonds to pay for the cost, and had 25 years to make the final payment. He said the debt was completely liquidated in 10 years and three months.

He said that in 1943 the power company was serving 7,902 customers, against 14,528 getting electric service now. He said the increase had been chalked up without any significant rise in population.

In that connection he pointed out that in the 16 years Frankfort has operated its own power system, water consumption has amounted to 16,400,000 KWH, and in 1958, 59,100,000 KWH were sold. Net earnings, he continued, have risen from $139,000 in 1944 to $422,000 in 1958.

Since the system was acquired by the city, $2,108,000 improvements have been added to the plant, and the city has "contributed to the community" a total of $4,495,687, he said.

Although they were not required to pay taxes, Gerard said the power system had paid $56,250 in county taxes and $397,912 to the city.

He said profits from the electric plant had built a hospital, parking facilities, a golf course, swimming pool and other recreation facilities for the city.

The electric plant employs 61 persons.

Mayor Gerard attacked the Everett Bill, which prevents cities from selecting their own source of power supply. "Anyone who reads the bill," he said, "would know that it is not in the best interests of the people."

If the Kentucky Utilities can get such bills through the Legislature he said, they have "outgrown their britches."

He urged the Low Power group to stand together in their fight. He pointed out that 51 counties have shown an interest in the organization and predicted it would soon cover the state.

Gerard said the pitiful part about the rate structure of private power companies is that "there is little we can do about it." He added that the organization, when it gets big enough, might be able to have some control over rates.

Dr. W. H. Bryant, Glasgow, who with E. J. Paxton Jr., Paducah, is co-chairman of the group, pointed out that although electric power is a necessity, "it does not enjoy the freedom of luxuries. People can choose what brand of cigarettes or automobiles they can buy, but they have no choice in buying power."

David Parish, Madisonville mayor, also spoke to the organization, outlining the long experience of his city in the operation of municipal utilities.

He pointed out that Madisonville has collected no taxes in six years, deriving all its revenue, except from parking meters and a $5 automobile tax, from net receipts of its power and water departments.

He said all streets in the Hopkins County seat are paved, the city has a complete sewer system and has built two large swimming pools. "We don't even have a tax collector nor an assessor," Parish said.

"When are we getting delivery on the new lift trucks?"

FROM THE FILES— Turning Back The Clock—

At the regular monthly meeting of the South Fulton council Friday night water consumers came before the council complaining of high-priced water bills.

around town with

Ouida Jewell

Mrs. Helen Damm Johnson of the Bu-Ron Publishing Company, and the Business and Professional Woman's Club members, want to sincerely thank all the merchants of Fulton and South Fulton for their splendid cooperation in the club's recent cook book project.

Practically every merchant in town took an ad in the book, which will be published and sold by B&P.W. club members. This is the new club's first money-making project and it went over with much success.

Was by recently to have a look through the beautiful new home of Mr. and Mrs. Sonny Puckett out in South Fulton. Everything is so lovely, and I enjoyed my visit very much.

Lovely Miss Mary Ann Bennett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Robert Bennett of Fulton, has been selected by the Fulton B&P.W. club, as their candidate in the Purchase District Fair Queen Contest at Mayfield. The contest will be held on Aug. 24 at 7:30, and a queen and four attendants will be chosen to reign over the fair, assisting in presentation of awards, etc.

Vandals damaged at least two automobiles last week. One car was badly damaged. The upholstery was cut to pieces, the cotton pulled out, the aerial was broken and the paint on the car was scratched off in places.

Mud was put in the seat of another car.

A window in my car was smashed, but I'm hoping that it broke on its own.

Mr. and Mrs. Rex Ruddle and son moved to their home on West State Line Saturday. They had been living at our home for the past two weeks, and we were glad to see them leave. We fell in love with their young son. He's the smartest boy you've ever seen. He helped mother clean the house and was much company to us.

Two charming and interesting young visitors in town this week are Misses Emily and Louise Stanton of Fort Worth, Texas. They are here visiting their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Baird.

C. D. Jones received a phone call from his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Jones, from Brownsville, Texas Monday morning. They were ready to take a plane to Mexico City, where they planned to visit for about two days, then return to Fulton this weekend. Mr. and Mrs. Jones have been visiting their son, Jerry, and his family in Corpus Christi, Texas, and reported that Jerry will return to work next week. Jerry, former Fulton County attorney, was critically injured in an automobile accident last January.

We spent a most enjoyable time Sunday afternoon at Reelfoot Lake, with swimming and boat riding at Magnolia Beach and dinner at Boyette's. It had been quite some time since my last trip to Reelfoot and I was surprised how the place had built up. I have never seen such a crowd there! I understand that this summer the lake, now a national park, has broken all records in attendance. Something I didn't know was that Martha Smith's sister owns Magnolia Beach. Its very nice!

Some people work their way through college, but my mother is working her way to Florida. She's already got paid her bill for a week's visit at that swanky hotel in Miami Beach, where the Centennial Queen and her husband are staying. The way she's doing it, is getting insurance prospects. When she gets a few more thousand dollars worth she can take her little girl, Ouida, along. She's done such a good job so far, headquarters of the company she works for, the Supreme Forest Woodmen Circle, has asked for her picture to run in next month's issue of "Tidings", their national magazine.

We got a surprise visit Thursday from our buddy, Martha Cole, and her young daughter, Pam, of Indianapolis, Ind. Martha's husband, Wayne, has accepted a wonderful position with the Effo Banana Company in New Orleans, La. Martha and Pam were returning to Indianapolis, after visiting with her parents at Clinton. When she has sold their home, she and Pam will join Wayne in New Orleans.

Wayne's new position is assistant sales manager of the Effo Banana Company. He has been with the Standard Fruit and Steamship Company for the past 10 years and has been district manager of the office in Indianapolis for three years.

Before going to Indianapolis, Wayne worked for Standard Fruit in Fulton.

We would like to congratulate Wayne, on his wonderful new job. Wayne, if you and Martha have trouble spending all the money you'll be making, you might remember a pore little news gal up here in Fulton.

Troubles, troubles, troubles. Just as we were about ready to make up the paper last Wednesday afternoon, the old linotype machine blew up. It couldn't be fixed and most of the heads were not set and part of the corrections hadn't been made. We placed the paper together and finally got out. So, if you found any errors in the paper, just blame it on the linotype machine. It couldn't be helped.

We're not the only people who have troubles though. Thursday morning, I went out to the Park Terrace for coffee and found Sonny really in a fix. The air-conditioner had played out and over thirty Phillip 66 salesmen were in the private dining room having an all-day meeting. (They met out there for about 3 days last week.) Sonny rushed out and borrowed a bunch of fans for both upstairs and down stairs.

The floor of the restaurant began to sweat, then the colored woman reported that the dish washer wouldn't work.

Mary Kate and Pearl were slipping all over the place, and the fans were causing their hair to stand on end.

On one occasion, Mary Kate was serving a hamburger, and as she passed by a fan the wind blew the top off the sandwich. Later, Mary was serving a plate when potato chips started flying over the place.

The Pierce-Harris Community Club met recently at Reelfoot Lake for a fish fry. There were about 55 members and visitors present. After dinner some enjoyed swimming. The club will meet in August with Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Faulkner.

We were so glad to see Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Kingston of Albuquerque, N. M. last week. They stopped by the News office to renew their subscription and were accompanied by their young grandson. The Kingstons are visiting relatives at Water Valley and were accompanied to Kentucky by their daughter, Mrs. Odell Tidwell and her family.

Several well-known ladies have been asked to contribute their favorite recipe to the cook book the Fulton-South Fulton Business and Professional Woman's Club is having published for sale here. Among those asked to contribute recipes are Mrs. Dwight Eisenhower, Mrs. Richard Nixon, Mrs. Happy Chandler, Mrs. Harry Lee Waterfield, Mrs. Frank Clements and Mrs. Billie Graham.

Is it necessary to be on your knees when you pray? Not at all. For prayer is "talking with God." The posture or the form aren't the most important considerations. What counts is that a person should mean what he says — and practice it.

Neither does prayer need set words. Too often pray-ers mechanically repeat words without giving thought to the meaning and the application of their prayer in their everyday relations with others.

Too often people repeat memorized prayers without the true significance being implanted in their hearts. Prayer, though unlimited in scope, is used too often by people seeking purely material things.

Prayer offers people of all creeds, races and colors a means of acknowledging their dependence upon God. It is a leveling process through which man submits his will to the will of God.

In prayer we admit our sins to God and ask His forgiveness and help. Prayer is the means we should frequently use to thank God for His guidance, gifts and mercy. Prayer is the mirror in which we see ourselves and others as creatures of God — in the image of God.

Everybody can talk to God through prayer any minute of any day. Prayer can be offered in several ways: formal prayers or informal prayers, the latter usually being the spontaneous expression to God of the feelings and thoughts of heart and mind; through silent prayer or meditation one's thoughts are instantly transmitted to God.

Our prayers need not be long. One prayer well said or thought is better than fifty without complete union with God.

An excellent "formula" for prayer was suggested by Joseph Cardinal Mercier, primate of Belgium during World War I:

"During five minutes each day, keep our imagination quiet, shut our eyes to all things of sense, and close our ears to all the sounds of the earth. Doing these things enables us to withdraw into the sanctuary of our soul and, speaking to God, express our love, and adoration for Him and confidence in Him.

"Ask Him to enlighten, guide, strengthen and console us, to tell us what we ought to do and promise submission to all that He allows to happen to us and, above all, at all times and in all things, to show us what is His will."

There was the usual gay activities preceding the Sawyer-Helmbrecht nuptials last Sunday. A miscellaneous gift shower last week with Mrs. J. A. Hemphill, Mrs. R. L. So was the linen shower and canasta party at the Tucker Brown home in Highlands with Mrs. Brown and Brenda Mrs. Charles Sawyer and Margaret Ann Newton serving up the honors or Sue. Then the Fred Sawyers, parents of you-know-who, were hosts at the rehearsal dinner. A couple of "bachelors" around town served up some real, de-e-e-licious barbecue for Lucy Anderson and Charles Wade Andrews last Friday. Those bachelors donning the chef's caps were Max McDade and Charles Binford.

The Fulton Country Club was as happy and busy as could be Tuesday when the local ladies were hostesses to golfers from Jackson, Dyersburg, Humboldt and Union City. Cumberland Presbyterian Church, I wish I had known personally some of the early members of the congregation; how long it took to raise the money to build the church, how many members there were, and how many members of the first early families still attend the church.

Some day, believe me, I am going to take time off to satisfy my almost insatiable curiosity about a lot of early Fulton history by taking time out to read, do research and write about it from the standpoint of a newcomer come to live among some mighty wonderful people with some mighty wonderful history to their credit.

WFUL CEASES—

Tibbs appeared before the council again, concerning a food bill owed him for feeding prisoners brought to the county jail from Fulton. Mr. Tibbs contends the city owes the bill, and the City Council believes the county owes it. City Attorney James Warren assured Mr. Tibbs that the suit, which the city is filing against the county over the matter, will be filed this week and that Circuit Judge Elvis Stahr should hand down a decision during the September term of court.

—Citizens from Missionary Bottom, with Mose Patton as spokesman, appeared before the council and complained about the need for more water pipes in the Bottoms. Patton said that they had been trying to get the city to do something about the matter for the past 25 years. It was pointed out that when there's a flood, the water pipes, in the area break, and at all times when one family does laundry at least seven families have to do without water.

The council promised to remedy the situation when they could borrow money.

—Ernest Fall, local insurance agent, whose business is located on Main Street, suggested to the council that the storm sewers be cleaned out. He was of the opinion this was the reason that water got into several business places on Main Street, during the recent heavy rain, when the streets were flooded.

The council instructed Mr. Brady to clean out the sewers with the fire hose, something that has been neglected.

—Ward Johnson said that it had been reported to him that there are people who are dumping their garbage at the city dump. The council said that this is prohibited.

—There were two representatives of the M. A. Saunders Bonding Company of Memphis present, and several ordinances were read by Attorney Warren and approved by the council, concerning the issuance of bonds for improvements to gas system and the water and sewer system.

—Also, an ordinance was read and approved on the new and increased rates in the water and sewer services. This will go into effect on Oct. 1.

—August 31 is the date set for the date of bonds for the improvement of the water and sewer system, and the gas system.

The amount of bonds to be issued for the improvement of the gas system is $70,000.

—The contract between the Highlands Water Commission and the City of Fulton was read and approved.

—J. O. Lewis told the council members of the meeting of local merchants concerning the creek and that it was decided to contact the Kentucky Highway Department and ask for a survey to determine what could be done to prevent Harris Fork Creek from flooding periodically.

—Mr. Lewis was appointed by the council to work with the committee appointed Friday night, and for him to do anything he could on the matter.

Mr. Lewis also issued a complaint by the Tom Mahans, the Jack Moores and Trinity Episcopal Church, all located on Vine Street, for not having any sewer in that section of Vine.

Councilman Ward Johnson asked about the blacktopping of State Line Road and Councilman Smith Atkins assured the council that it was to be done soon.

City Attorney James Warren said that the suit against the Fulton policemen and the city, filed by Roman Bennett, would probably be tried during the September term of court.

Roberts Is Demo Nominee

Harry Roberts Jr., Clinton attorney, is the Democratic nominee for commonwealth's attorney of the First Judicial District.

He was nominated unanimously Friday by the executive board of the Democratic district committee. The board is composed of party chairmen of the five counties in the judicial district. The counties are Hickman, Fulton, Carlisle, Ballard and Graves.

The nomination virtually assures Roberts of election to the commonwealth's attorney post made vacant by the death of Flavious B. Martin of Mayfield. The Clinton attorney is serving in that capacity now by governor's appointment. There are three more years of Mr. Martin's unexpired term.

The nomination of Roberts to succeed Mr. Martin came at a meeting of the district executive board which was held in the Merit clubhouse at Mayfield Friday morning. The meeting was called by Will J. Bennett of Mayfield, chairman of the board.

A native of Hickman County, Roberts served 12 years as Hickman County attorney before he was appointed to succeed Mr. Martin on July 5. He operates a 1,000-acre cattle farm near Clinfon.

b. If Dr. Connaughton assumes the responsibility for the necessary installations to the area, there is some doubt that a commitment made by the present council would be binding on he part of future councils.

A committee composed of Bobby Matthews, Ed Neely and Gene Copeland is studying the matter and the Council agreed to meet next week to discuss legal and other aspects of the project.

In other action the City Council discussed:

—Ditching and high water problems in low areas and landlides and mud banks in high areas.

—Agreed to renew the power franchise with the Weakley County Municipal Electric system until January 1, 1960. The 120-day franchise entered into with the power distributor has expired, yet negotiations are active to secure TVA power for South Fulton.

—Agreed to take under advisement the need for adding police help on Fridays and Saturdays to take care of the mounting incidents of disturbances in some areas.

—Announced a concerted drive to stop speeding on Collingwood Drive.

Agreed to install a minimum number of street lights in the Burcham edition.

—Set the third Tuesday in October as the date for the primary board to meet to select candidates for Mayor and Councilmen in the December election.

Forrest Ladd

Forrest Ladd, a former state senator and the Tennessee Jaycees "Young Man of the Year" in 1952, was found dead Wednesday night in a hotel swimming pool at San Juan, Puerto Rico.

It was not immediately determined whether he drowned or was stricken by a heart attack.

Ladd, 43, and his wife had gone to San Juan as guests of Gov. Buford Ellington, who was attending the National Governors' conference there. His death was reported by Ellington, a close friend, in a telephone call to friends in Memphis.

Don Binkley, the governor's press secretary, said Ladd went swimming alone after the conference ended while Mrs. Ladd remained in their room packing for a return flight home.

His body was found at the bottom of the pool in eight feet of water.

Ladd served in the 1951 and 1953 Legislatures. He was vice president of a Memphis building materials firm, and vice president of the Memphis Chamber of Commerce.

Born at Monkey's Eyebrow, Ky., near Paducah, Ladd graduated from Western Kentucky State college at Bowling Green. He served three and a half years in the Navy in World War II and was discharged a Lieutenant.

Mrs. Ladd was formerly of Fulton.

Favorites Advance In Golf Tourney

First round matches in Men's City Championship play were completed Sunday, with the favorites advancing except for a few minor upsets.

Defending Champion Jasper Vowell, who's phenomenal with wood shots, found a worthy opponent in Ernest Fall in his first match. Vowell was ahead 1-up at the turn, but came back strong on the second nine to win the match. He shot a 37-35 for an even par round.

John Henson, always a competitor for the championship, eliminated Sparky Newton last week and now meets Vowell in the second round.

George Moore fell before Jack Moore Sunday and young Jack Johnson of Hickman came through in fine style to eliminate Charles Pawlukiewicz. Jack Moore and Johnson meet this week.

Pat Nanney, one of the top competitors, had difficulty before he defeated David Homra Sunday. Homra fell 3 and 1 on the 17th.

Ferry-Morse's Clayton Joyce, who's a newcomer at the local club, advanced with a win over Arch Huddleston and now meets Pat Nanney.

Bud White defeated W. C. Hale and Dick Meacham won by default over Frank Fisher. White and Meacham meet in the second round.

In the lower bracket, Max McDade, one of the top golfers here and two-time winner of the championship trophy, defeated Frank Beadles in a close match on Saturday.

Charles Binford won by default over Clyde Williams, Jr., and Buck Bushart defeated Tom Mahan. Binford and Bushart meet in the second round and this one could be a tight one.

Boots Rogers, many times champion of the club, was upset by Felix Gossum. Gossum now meets Donnie McKnight, who advanced with a win over Howard Adams.

Lynn Newton upset C. D. Jones, the 1958 First flight winner on Saturday and will play Jim Huffine. Huffine won from Dr. E. F. Crocker.

Sixteen are now left in the Championship Flight and the 16 losers make up the First Flight.

Bishop Watkins To Retire Soon

Methodist Bishop William T. Watkins will retire at an early date.

Bishop Watkins, who has been head of the church in Kentucky and West Tennessee since 1944, announced his decision in Louisville Wednesday to the 22 district superintendents who compose his area cabinet.

The 64-year-old clergyman said his health and the fact that he is facing the most strenuous twelve months of his 21-year career as a bishop brought about his decision to retire.

Another Methodist bishop will be appointed to assume Bishop Watkins' responsibilities between the date of his retirement and the assignment of a new bishop next July at the church's Southeastern Jurisdictional Conference.

The exact date and the name of the temporary bishop will be announced following additional consultation by Bishop Watkins and the College of Bishops of the Methodist Southeastern Jurisdiction.

The PRICE of Seed is Geared to the "GP FACTOR"

Southern States gives you MORE pure live seed for LESS MONEY

Only money paid for Pure Live Seed is money well spent. The price you pay for seed of low Germination and Purity may be MONEY DOWN THE DRAIN—because the PRICE of seed is geared to Germination and Purity (the "GP Factor"). It simply doesn't make sense to try to "Save money" and end up getting seeds that will not do the job in your fields. That's being "price wise and crop foolish."

Southern States Seeds Are a Sound Investment

Southern States seeds are high in Germination and Purity. Their price as geared to the "GP Factor" is low. They are a sound investment because they give you better stands, less weeds, maximum yields.

How Price is Affected by the GP Factor

Compare two bags of Orchard Grass seed. The price of Bag No. 2 looks good—but is it?

Bag No. 1	.43 per lb.	Germination 85%
		Purity 85%
Bag No. 2	.39 per lb.	Germination 75%
		Purity 80%

For bag No. 2 the Germination (75%) multiplied by the Purity (80%) gives 60% Pure Live Seed—the "GP Factor." Divide price (.39) by GP Factor (60%); result is price of Pure Live Seed—.65 per lb. By the same formula, with price geared to GP Factor, Bag No. 1 gives you Pure Live Seed for only .59½ per lb.

Don't be fooled—watch the GP Factor!

Part of the time for the supermarket, Tom.

Aw, no, nothing like that. I mean —

Out of every 8-hour day I work, it takes 1 1/2 hours pay to feed my family.

Oh, I'm hittin' a few taps for the electric company?

Sure, Ed. That's the easiest part of anybody's day. I work about 7 minutes out of an 8-hour day to pay my electric bill.

Tom's right, of course. Out of every 8-hour day, the average wage earner works 1 1/2 hours to pay for food, and just 7 minutes to pay his electric bill. When you consider all the things electricity does for your family, that's mighty little, isn't it? In fact, their daily electricity cost wouldn't buy dessert for most families.

Living costs vary, of course, from family to family; but the income and outgo of Tom and Ed represent those of the average wage earner in the U.S.
